VIKINGS!

Have you ever wondered what Viking life was like? A rephlogist is sending more about them everyday! A viking home would have 1 small window with wooden shutters. It was very dark in the home with one lamp on the table and one on the ceiling.

Inside a Viking Home!

In Viking times, only royal had beds poor would sleep on benches padded with rugs and blankets. In the center of the room there would be something called a hearth that they would cook food on. People think old people would sit round the hearth and tell tales & complain about there aches and pains.

This is an example of how poor slept.

Family Life!

The Vikings loved family and spends this is show when someone dies they would put up a memorial stone. They would put jewelry in with them to take to the afterlife.

Vikings would make children do jobs both the boys this may include rowing, sailing and farming. Girls would learn to spin, weave, milk cows and prepare food. Viking boys liked to play games in free time but girls like picking berries and mushrooms.

VIKING Food!

Unlike us Vikings ate twice a day. They had bowls made from wood and spoons from horn. There were no forks and they used a dagger or knife. They drank from a horn. They ate with fingers and the food was poor they sweetened dishes as there was no sugar.

VIKING WOMEN!

Viking women needed to be strong to handle saying bye to there husbands and not knowing if they were coming back. Women would choose there husband and work as all jobs were done.
