

VIKINGS

Inside a Viking Home

In these Viking homes there was little space and only 1 window with no glass but a pair of wooden shutters. The air would have been stuffy because of a peat fire or logs burning. There were also no chimneys. In the houses a fire would burn in a central hearth which is around 1 meter. Rich Vikings ^{homes} were different and would have had a bed made especially for them made of wood that had been finely carved. Weapons like swords, axes or even maces were hung up on walls along with clothes and clothes. There was also little furniture then. Clothes were instead hidden in chests or strong boxes. Foods were also different and food like butter, salted fish, of drinks such as ale were stored in buckets, barrels and

FLICKERING Lights

Back then small lamps were placed on tables and ceiling. They were made from soapstone and filled with oil and a wick but if a breeze was to come would flicker.

2 up your lock like this → used to lock chests. The Vikings
to put their most valuable things like
of a dagger.

